

Red Devils Gear Up for a Competitive 2010 Season

Redlands United Football Club officially commences its pre-season preparations on Monday night when training for the 2010 season commences for the Premier League, Premier Reserves and Premier Youth sides. Training will re-commence after the Christmas break every Monday, Wednesday and Thursday night from 4 January until the start of the season.

The Club is recruiting quality home grown and international players for what is expected to be a hotly competitive 2010 Brisbane Premier League season. Redlands have made some great signings so far with two quality international players, former Manchester United Academy player Haydn Eames and Jack Lyons from Petersborough in the English Championship, teaming up with QSL Captain Ryan Bridge, and other QSL squad members, Golden Boot Winner Russell Woodruffe, Scottish International Graham Fyfe (most valuable player award winner of the QSL Grand Final), Mitch O'Brien former New Zealand Under 20 national goal keeper, Danny Byrne, Anthony Paolino and youngsters Scott Bow and Jesse Lindemann. Cameron Draper will also debut in 2010 for Redlands coming across from Olympic.

There are still key positions to be filled and the Club encourages any premier level player to attend the trials on the 7th, 9th, 14th and 16th of December to join what we anticipate to be very competitive sides.

Pre-season games have been organised commencing in January against top level competition to fine tune the Devil's preparations for the 2010 season.

The 2010 Brisbane Premier League Draw has been released and commences on the weekend of the 19/20/21 of February 2010. The competition comprises a number of local derby matches pitting the Red Devils against local rivals Capalaba, Brisbane Wolves, Rochedale Rovers, Beenleigh, Eastern Suburbs, Brisbane Olympic and Souths United.
